

Literacy of Northern New York Online Tutor Training Course for Volunteers Open Enrollment for Your Convenience

Literacy of Northern NY is pleased to offer the revised, online version of its Tutor Training Course for volunteers. The online training provides an alternative to prospective tutors who cannot attend multiple in-house training sessions. There is a short, in-person Pre-Session meeting, online training for Reading Basics, Language Basics (ESL), Math Basics, Successful Tutoring, Employability Soft Skills, and a final, in-person Post-Training session. Volunteers can take any of these modules but must attend the Pre and Post Sessions.

The training is open to Jefferson and Lewis County residents. If you are interested and would like more information, please contact the office in your county.

Literacy of Northern NY matches adults who want to become better readers or are learning English for the first time, with someone who can give them some one-on-one help. First, tutors go through a training course to help them learn basic teaching techniques and are then matched with a student.

Tutors and students meet once or twice a week for about an hour. Most tutors and learners meet in public places such as libraries, our computer lab or other public places where there is a room available so that you can have privacy.
